Zero Lost Time Accidents: Gaylor, Inc. Reaches 3.5 Million Hours

Gaylor, Inc. May 2011: Gaylor is thrilled to announce a remarkable achievement in working more than 3.5 million man hours without a lost time accident. This record breaking event pushed through the previous record of 3.4 million man hours that spanned from the fall of 2003 into the 1st quarter of 2006. Today, Gaylor has reached this amount of hours in less than 16 months and is still going strong. "In constantly striving for zero incidents, this landmark suggests we are on the right track with our safety and health performance, and are properly aligned in our quest towards zero," stated Wes Anderson, Corporate Safety Director.

Our full-time safety personnel provide year-round classroom instruction and on-site training. We have a safety incentive program that directly ties into continued safety education participation as well as on-site safety performance. This extra incentive is well worth the investment for the company because it helps to keep safety at the front of everyone's awareness. "At Gaylor, there is nothing more important than Safety. We train it and focus on it constantly," stated Paul Osland, Gaylor's Chief Operations Officer. "While our own employees' health is the primary focus, we are increasingly finding that there is nothing more important to our customers. Their requirements around Safety performance are getting more and more sophisticated and demanding all the time. We welcome that focus." Our rich safety culture has been carefully and intentionally developed through the years and is a point of great pride for us. For Gaylor, safety is a Values issue! Our commitment to safety is what will lead Gaylor to exceed this milestone of 3.5 Million Hours of Zero Lost Time Accidents.
